

An original oil painting by Kenneth Wyatt Kenneth Wyatt JO Comanche Trail Tulia, Texas 79088 Phone: 806-995-2239 | Fax: 806-995-2811 Web site: www.kennethwyatt.com E-mail: info@kennethwyatt.com Copyright© 2015 Kenneth Wyatt Galleries. All rights reserved. Copyright© 2015 Kenneth Wyatt Galleries. All rights reserved.

THEM'S REINDEER TRACKS!

By Kenneth Wyatt

There's nothin' like family at Christmas ...that, we all know And the family had gathered at Grandma's for the holiday show. Uncles and Aunts...and there were cousins knee deep, Presents by the fireplace were piled in a heap!

The piano was playin' and some singin' was done, The front door would open...proof that others had come. About forty in all...maybe more...maybe less, Everyone had come early....'bout a week, I would guess.

A party in the making...no doubt in my mind, A better place to be would be hard to go find! The women were all plannin' a trip to the store, "We need six turkeys" said one...said another, "or more!"

Why, the party was already a big happy scene... FOUR days 'til Christmas...when the first spots were seen. The spots were bright red, 'bout a quarter inch wide; They were on Johnny's tummy and showed on each side.

A polk-a-dot cousin, I'd not had before... A couple of days later....they'd be a few more! Doc Cagle was sent for and he made the call... "Measles" he said, then nailed a sign on the wall.

"No one can enter!" was what the words said, Four days later...nine kids were in bed. Johnny was the youngest...had been the sickest of all. He'd stopped Santa!...maybe Jesus....from comin' to call! "Christmas is gone!" was the thought in his brain, But two uncles had a plan, 'tho a little insane! Uncle Joe got two fence posts and dragged 'em real slow. Then Pete roped some goats and drove them to Joe.

With the scene all set, they brought Johnny to look... Just a little persuadin' was all that it took! With boots on his feet, a red scarf on his head, The men promised to hurry and get him back into bed.

Pete started by showing where poles had been drug, "Probly' a sled!" he remarked with a shrug. "Them's reindeer tracks!" said Joe with a shout! Oh, Christmas was back, and in Johnny...NO DOUBT.

Santa came last night....why, it really was true! No red dots could stop him...until he was through!

An' with Uncles like Pete and Big Joe... Jesus came too!!!!!

